DR. JOHNSON BURNED OUT.

His Office at Mancelona and Contents Are Gone.

Dr. Cornelius A. Johnson, of Mancelons, formerly of this city, came down on Saturday to spend Christmas with his parents here. While absent from his office in Mancelona it was burned, with its contents. The fire broke out Sunday night in a two story brick building, the ground floor of which contained a stock of boots and shoes owned by W. M. Simmons, the upper part being used by Dr. Jourson and Dr. Barnett, a dentist, for offices and deeping apartments.

Dr. Johnson lost everything he had, including surgical instruments, furni-ture, etc., in all valued at about $1,000. He had but $400 insurance. The loss on the building and contents entire amounted to $15,000 and upwards.
